(CHAIRMAN'S REPORT: Dr. Howard Seeman has been an important member of our department. He epitomizes the consummate professional by virtue of his high level of educational research, excellent classroom teaching, and his significant articles, publications, and scholarly papers that have been received with high praise from leaders in the field. Prof. Seeman's new book entitled Preventing Classroom Discipline Problems was published in 1988, and has been well received by national authorities in the field. Although this book was published in 1988, it was updated to a second edition, [now a third edition]. In addition, the publishers are negotiating for a translation into French for Canadian and European distribution. The book is being used in colleges as a basic text, in over 300 schools nationally, by professionals in clinic settings who deal with children with disruptive behavior, and by administrators in over 30 international schools [now with a training video/CD cued to the book.]
